GREAT RAIN STORM.

Lowlands in Illinois Flooded—Immense Damage to Crops—Hogs and Other Stock Drowned—Bridges and Ten Miles of Railroad Track Washed Away—Tornado in Iowa.

CANTON, Ill., June 7.—The most destructive rain storm for many years passed over this vicinity last night. The lowlands in every direction are flooded and great destruction of crops reported. Along the river bottom everything was washed away, houses, barns, and stock. To the northeast of this city several houses were washed away, the inmates barely escaping with their lives. A large number of hogs and other stock were drowned. A farmer reports two hundred fat hogs and shoats gone. To the south west the losses are still more extensive. Fences, bridges, culverts, small buildings, railroad tracks and everything moveable has been swept away. Several narrow escapes from drowning are reported. An invalid who was compelled to move out in the storm died from exposure. This morning all the coal mines are flooded east and south of this point. Southwest of Canton, on the Spoon river, the damage is reported as still greater, but no particulars can be obtained, as all communication is severed. The T., P. and W. Railroad is badly washed away. On each side of Canton the bridges are gone and the track badly down. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy track is also badly washed. Several bridges between this point and Rushville are gone. The damage to crops and stock cannot be ascertained with any certainty, but it is beyond doubt that all grain in low lands is washed out. The higher prairie farms have not suffered so much, but have not escaped entirely. It will be several days before the real extent of the damage is ascertained.

Later reports make the damage much worse than at first reported. It will take several days to repair the railroads. In all ten miles of tracks and bridges are gone and all communication will be cut off for several days.

IOWA CITY, June 7.—A tornado passed South of Iowa City last night, uprooting and tearing down houses and barns and killing stock. No person was injured. The orchard crops were destroyed.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 7, 1872.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Red Cloud, Red Dog and twenty-five other Sioux chiefs and braves leave for Philadelphia to-morrow. From Philadelphia they start for their homes, stopping to visit Pittsburgh.

Gordon Gordon not appearing to-day, Judge Brady granted a dismissal of his complaint against Gould, in case he does not appear on the 20th instant for examination.

The General Synod of the Reformed Church, in the morning session, was occupied in a discussion of the report of the committee recommending a change in the Board of Superintendents of the theological seminary at New Brunswick, New Jersey.

The Executive Committee of the Eight-Hour League have been busily engaged in the preparation of a letter to Governor Hoffman, rebutting the accusations of violence which have been brought against the workmen. The meetings of the German furniture makers continue large and enthusiastic, the men evincing as much determination as on the first day of the strike. Although threatening no violent measures, they are gradually manifesting bitter and revolutionary spirits.

The Eight Hour League this morning received dispatches from Philadelphia stating that the gas trustees will accede to the demands of the laborers on the gas works. The coach makers held a mass meeting this morning to lay plans for future proceedings.

The car drivers of the Second avenue line decided last night to demand an increase of pay, and it is said have obtained the price demanded, though efforts are being made to keep the matter quiet. The Central Park Detective Union, numbering some 650 men, resolved to stop work to-morrow night, unless the hours are reduced to eight.

The sewing machine workmen formed a protective union to-day. The amalgamated miners' society meditate a speedy strike for eight hours.

A verdict for the plaintiff was rendered in the Superior Court in the case of Laura E. Bolton, contesting the will of her father, Theodore B. Tallmage, made in 1839, to obtain possession of property valued at $40,000. The case is a test one for the whole property, involving $200,000. The complaint alleges undue influence in obtaining the will, and that deceased was a resident of Columbia county, while the will was probated in New York city, thus rendering it a nullity. The father died in 1841, when the complainant was an infant.

DR. LANAHAN SUED FOR SLANDER.

Dr. Lanahan was arrested this afternoon on an order of arrest issued by Judge Friedom, of the Supreme Court, on complaint of Samuel Goodenough, who has brought suit against him to recover damages for alleged slander. The plaintiff, in his affidavit, says Dr. Lanahan had called him a thief and a robber, and that he accused him of wearing diamonds and other articles of jewelry purchased with money which he had taken from the Methodist Book Concern. Bail was fixed at $5,000.

Closing Day of the Races at Newark, Ohio.

Special Dispatch to Commercial.

NEWARK, O., June 7, 1862.

At the third and last day's races of the Licking County Horse Fair, the attendance was much larger than the two days previous. The first was a running race, mile heats, three in five, purse $500. D. W. Cranze's Sabina, 1; Ike R. Hill's Moollie Cad, distanced; George Beastell's Resada, distanced; time 1:52. The Resada fell and threw her rider the first round. The Mollie Cad fell at the same place on the second round and threw her rider, who was seriously hurt. The track was a little wet at this place, which caused the horses to slip, otherwise the track was good. We had heavy showers early this morning. Second, trotting race, mile heats, three in five, purse $500. Samuel Keys's Anna Watson, 1, 1, 2, 3, 2, 2; E. M. Strader's Red Oak did not go; John Hines's Silversides, 2, 3, 3, 1, 3, 3; Dan H. Hughes's Frank Shaw, 3, 2, 1, 2, 1, 1. Time, 2:39¼, 2:33¼, 2:36¼, 2:41, 2:43, 2:42½. The pacing race did not come off, there not being enough entries to fill. The fair was a success. Lady training is thought to be injured so much in the race yesterday as to render her unfit for running hereafter.

Singular Coal Oil Explosion.

CINCINNATI, June 7.—A coal oil explosion took place in the cellar of Henry Milxman's store on Fifth street, near Vine, at seven o'clock this evening. It blew the show windows and contents and doors into the street, blew out the end of a small frame which constituted the rear of the store, demolished queensware and lamps and severely burned Mr. Milxman, who was alone in the store. Several persons on the sidewalk in front of the street were prostrated, but not injured. How the oil ignited no one can tell. No one was in the cellar at the time. Speculations are that it is a case of spontaneous ignition. At least one barrel exploded. A fire alarm was sounded quickly and the fire extinguished by the engines before it got out of the cellar. The store room contained queensware, much of which was broken. The damages will probably reach $3,000.

The Record of Shipwrecks.

BOSTON, June 7.—Additional accounts continue to be received of shipwrecks by the recent storm. The schooner Radicott, Captain Reed, arrived at this port to-day. Capt. Reed reports that on Wednesday he fell in with a lumber laden schooner with the loss of her main mast. The crew were evidently in great peril, as five men were seen lashed to the rigging. The sea was so high to send a boat to their aid, and Captain Reed lay by her for fourteen hours for the purpose of taking them off, but the gale continuing, it was found impossible.

Philadelphia Not Yet in Darkness.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—The strike at the gas works has not prevented the usual supply of gas. Other workmen have been obtained, and forty policemen formerly in the employ of the gas company have volunteered their services and are aiding to keep up the supply. The Trustees have published a card, asking consumers to economize gas, and promising a full supply in a few days.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL IN CONFERENCE.

Civil Rights and Ku-Klux Bills Fail.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7, 1872.

The River and Harbor Bill

Passed the House to-day, and now to the Conference Committee. Sherman's amendment providing that hereafter tolls on the Louisville canal shall be five cents a ton was concurred in by the House, and it cannot be revised by the Conference Committee. Conger, of Michigan, attempted to prevent concurrence with the Senate, on the ground that five cents would not produce sufficient revenue to meet the liabilities, but Holmes, of Indiana, Stevenson and Garfield supported the measure, and carried the House with them by a large majority.

Civil Rights and Ku-Klux Bills Fail.

The House went to work at bills on the Speaker's table at an early hour, and was soon brought to the consideration of the civil rights and Ku-Klux bills. An attempt was made by a parliamentary device to get the civil rights bill before the House in such a way that a majority vote would be sufficient to pass it. Poland then asked a suspension of the rules to pass it, with an amendment he had offered providing that the maximum penalty should be one thousand dollars, instead of five thousand, with the minimum of five hundred, as in the Senate bill. This failed by eighty-six to seventy-three nays, a two-third vote being necessary to its passage. He then tried the bill with an amendment reducing the penalty to one hundred dollars, but that also was lost by eighty-three to seventy-three. The Ku-Klux bill was reached next, but did not even become a majority where two-thirds was required, the vote standing fifty-six yeas, eighty-eight nays. The Republicans voting in the negative were Blair, Burchard, Donan, Garfield, Hay, Kellogg, McCrary, McGraw, Ketchum, Morphis, Strong and Walden. The impression created upon the floor during the vote was that it would be impossible to pass any measure by which the Ku-Klux bill could be passed in the House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7, 1872.

HOOKER AND SCHURZ.

That part of the interview of a San Francisco newspaper reporter alleged to have been had with Gen. Joe Hooker which reflects upon Senator Schurz is, probably, owing to a misunderstanding on the part of the reporter as to what Hooker said. It was at Gen. Schurz's special request that the conduct of his division at Wauhatchie was investigated by a court of inquiry, and Gen. Schurz was wholly exonerated. Subsequently Gen. Hooker himself wrote to Gen. Schurz, acknowledging the injustice of the unjust reports, and assuring him that he had ascertained at a later date that others were responsible for what the former, in the first instance, had attributed to him. Gen. Hooker could not have said that he immediately relieved Gen. Schurz, since nothing of the kind took place.

THE ADDITIONAL ARTICLE NOT YET ACCEPTED BY ENGLAND.

A report prevailed to-day that England has accepted the additional article to the treaty of Washington. This report may have been founded on the remarks made last night in the House of Lords, which gave promise of such a result. No official information had been received up to a late hour to-night concerning the report. Gentlemen in official positions have, however, through Minister Schenck, such intimations as lead them to believe the article will be accepted with the explanation given the British Attorney for authority of our Government in relation to consequential damages. Should the article be accepted, it will be embodied in the form of a treaty to be negotiated by Secretary Fish and Sir Edward Thornton, and then sent to London for the Sovereign's signature. The arbitrators at Geneva can adjourn soon after their meeting on the 15th instant, to meet again as soon as the document shall reach them, and thereafter continue their business without further impediment.

Sale of Cruisers.

In accordance with the request of the New York Central Railroad Company, the sale of their property to satisfy the demands of the government tax is postponed until the attorneys of the company can confer with Secretary Boutwell and Commissioner Douglas.

AFTER MANY YEARS—AN AFFECTING SCENE.

During the proceedings in the House of Representatives this afternoon, a bill was passed for the relief of a lady aged seventy-one, giving her $8,000, being the amount of seven years' half pay due her father, who served as an officer under Paul Jones in the Bon Homme Richard. Twenty-five years have been spent by her in prosecuting the claim. She was in the gallery when the announcement of the passage of the bill was made by the Speaker, and waved her handkerchief with an air of triumph. Several members on the floor noticing this act, began to applaud, meaning to signify the lady and to express their gratification at the result. Other members followed their example, and a general clapping of hands and laughter rang through the hall. The lady, overcome by her feelings, burst into tears, and then fell on her knees in prayer. Many hearts were made glad by the lady's success.

SPORTING.

Trot of Goldsmith Maid and Lucy at Philadelphia—Scharff, of Birmingham, Beats Butler, of Boston, in the Five-Mile Scull Race—The Best Time Ever Made in This Country.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—The race between Goldsmith Maid and Lucy came off this afternoon at Suffolk Park, and was witnessed by thousands of persons. Rain fell during the last two heats. The time made by the Maid was 2:23¾, 2:23¼, 2:22¼. Jay Gould was trotted out between heats, and made 2:23¾.

A boat race took place this afternoon on the Schuylkill, between the celebrated oarsmen William Scharff, of Pittsburgh, and Thomas C. Butler, of Boston. The race was for $500 a side. The boats started from a point below the Edading Railroad bridge, the course being five miles. Butler at the starting was in advance, but the Pittsburgh man gradually gained, and at the stake boat was some distance ahead. On the home stretch he gradually widened the gap, and reached the starting point twelve lengths ahead of Butler, and an easy winning easily. The time made by Scharff was 32:27, which is the fastest time ever made in this country.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7, 1872, 7 P. M.

PROBABILITIES.

The area of cloudy weather and rain will extend eastward over the New England and possibly the northern portion of the South Atlantic States during to-night; a rising barometer with westerly to northerly winds and clear weather will prevail very generally Saturday from Tennessee northward to the Lakes, and from the upper lakes, and extend eastward over the South Atlantic and Middle States during the day, and over New England on Saturday night; clear weather is probable for the Gulf States. Dangerous winds are not anticipated.

POLITICAL.

Missouri Congressional Nominations.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—It is likely that an extra session of the Legislature will be called soon to redistrict the State, as it has been discovered that the additional members which Missouri is entitled to under the new apportionment of the lower House by Congress cannot be elected at large, but must represent districts.

Tennessee Labor Reform Nominations.

NASHVILLE, June 7.—The Labor Reform State Executive Committee to-day agreed on a State ticket with John C. Brown for Governor and Andrew Johnson for Congressman for State at large. W. S. Breen, Congressman in fifth district, W. C. Whithorn in the sixth, and R. F. Loony in the ninth.

Fatal Accident in Fort Wayne—State Congregational Association—Democratic Convention.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

FORT WAYNE, IND., June 7, 1872.

Adam Bender, a day laborer in this city, was killed to-day by the caving in of the wall of a well which he was cleaning out. A rope was thrown him and he could have been saved, but his boots stuck in the mud, and were being pulled off, when he let go the rope to save the boots, and thereby lost his life. He leaves a wife and children.

In the State Congregational Association meeting to-day the time was taken up with prayer and speaking exercises, and business devoted to the interests of the society. The attendance was large.

To-morrow's the contest is anticipated in the Democratic County Convention for the nomination of State representatives and county officials. The largest number of candidates ever in the field, each for himself, and lively times are anticipated.

Important Card.

We have been selling T. C. Jenkins's great White River flour for the past five years—have probably sold more of it than any one house in this section of the State. It has given general satisfaction, and we consider it the best flour in the market for the money.

XLII. CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7, 1872.

Mr. BOREMAN called up the Senate bill to reimburse United States Marshals for moneys necessarily expended by them in taking the ninth census, in excess of the compensation allowed them under the law in force before the passage of this act. Passed.

Mr. TRUMBULL moved that the Judiciary Committee be discharged from the further consideration of the House bill to regulate the seizure and examination of the trunks, books and papers in the Custom House, and that the bill be placed on the calendar.

Mr CONKLING objected to the motion in the absence of Mr. Edmunds.

Mr. FENTON expressed the hope that the committee would be discharged, and that the bill to regulate service in the collection of customs at various ports of entry in the United States and the disposition of fines and forfeitures incurred under the laws relating to customs, etc., which was made the special order for the 8th of January, would be taken up and passed. The exigencies of the public service require its consideration. He charged that this bill, which had now been delayed for several months, had been purposely delayed.

After further discussion, Mr. EDMUNDS moved to lay Mr. Trumbull's motion on the table, which was agreed to, yeas 20, nays 33. The morning hour expired, and the subject went over.

Mr. BAYARD asked unanimous consent to have a vote taken on his motion to allow the minority of the New York Custom House Investigating Committee to print their views during the recess.

Mr. CRAGIN objected.

The sundry civil appropriation bill was then taken up and the various amendments pending considered. The section allowing pay to naval contractors in the rebel States prior to May 31, 1861, was stricken out.

A message was received from the President, returning without his approval the bill for the relief of Thomas Wallace, and giving his reasons therefor, which was read and referred to the Committee on Claims. The bill is of the same character as the claim of J. Milton Best, of Kentucky, and vetoed for the same reasons as that.

Mr. COLE moved an amendment authorizing the Secretary of War to extend the signal service to take observations for the benefit of agriculture. Agreed to.

Mr. MORRILL, of New York moved an amendment modifying the provisions of the act of July 3, 1870, requiring all unexpended balances of appropriations for public buildings to be covered into the Treasury at the end of the year for which they were appropriated, so as to allow such balances to be expended during the year following the period of the limit mentioned in the law. Pending action on the amendment, the Senate proceeded to consideration of executive business, at the close of which a recess was taken.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. WILSON, from the Military Committee, reported the House bill relative to retiring officers of the army, and repealing the 22d section of the act of 20th of July, 1866.

The sundry appropriation bill was taken up, the question being on the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, to amend section 10 of the act of 3d of July, 1870, as prohibits the use of unexpended balances for the completion of public buildings beyond the year for which they were appropriated. Mr. MORRILL submitted a modification, removing the restriction in the case of buildings now in course of construction, so far as related to unexpended appropriated balances. The modified amendment was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill fixing the time of the operation of the tariff free list at the 1st of July, instead of August. Referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. DAWES, from the Ways and Means Committee, reported a bill providing that when it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Treasury that parties are entitled to a refund of duty paid on goods in public stores or bonded warehouses August 1st, 1872, under the provisions of the recently passed tariff act, it shall be the duty of the Secretary to draw a warrant in such amount. Passed.

Ten thousand copies of the tariff act were ordered to be printed for the use of members of the House.

The House took up the message of the President vetoing the bill for the relief of Jesse D. Bright, of Montgomery, the Senate having reconsidered and passed the bill, the President's objections to the contrary notwithstanding, and now the House, after a brief debate, passed the bill by the required constitutional majority of two-thirds—yeas 101, nays 44.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a message from the President, calling the attention of Congress to the act approved 14th July, 1870, directing the Secretary of War to place at the disposal of the President certain bronze cannon for the erection of an equestrian statue of General J. A. Rawlins, etc. The President says that no provision of law is named or parties designated to whom the ordinance is to be delivered. In order to remove ambiguity he desires Congress to signify what shall be done. The selection of tickets is in progress at Pittock & Co.'s book store.

Manning's Minstrels.

Of this troupe, who are to appear at the Pittsburgh Opera House on Monday evening, a Wheeling paper says: "As we anticipated, Washington Hall was filled last night, notwithstanding the strong attraction of Barnum's show. And the people were delighted. We heard but one expression all over the hall, and that was that it was the best minstrel performance ever given in Wheeling. The songs, acts, jokes, dances, everything in fact, were new and full of fun. Each and everything was excellently given, and well merited applause. There was not an objectionable word or gesture in the entire performance."

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

THE South Side Ledger declares for "Grant and Wilson."

THE Great Western Band arrived home yesterday covered with honors.

WILL the absence of all the Democratic clubs that were to be started in favor of a "straight" nomination?

THE Wine Dealers' meeting last night lacked a head. None present appeared to know exactly why they were there.

THE renowned Billy Diehl was before the Mayor for vagrancy, yesterday morning, and received a sixty day term to jail.

BUSINESS at the East Liberty Stock Yards is becoming quite brisk. Yesterday there was an arrival of forty-two loads of cattle.

THE result of the boat race formed the topic of discussion in boating circles last night. Scharff will meet with a hearty welcome on his return.

A RUNAWAY occurred on Forty-second street yesterday, by which a boy named Otto Helbing had his arm broken, the buggy passing over it. No arrests were required to suspend the rules and pass the bill.

THE Street Committee of Allegheny Councils have awarded the contracts for sewers on Spring Garden avenue and the alley to Wm. Fife & Son, at 65 cts.

THE Mayor disposed of twenty two common cases yesterday morning. Thomas Haney, for disorderly conduct, was sent to jail for thirty days.

In the case of Thomas Sinclair, indicted for perjury, the jury found him guilty, but earnestly recommended him to the extreme leniency of the Court.

PATRICK DONOVAN, who was injured at the accident which occurred on Thursday at the quarry of Bell & Co., in Allegheny, was lying in a critical condition last evening.

MARY W. GRAY made information before Alderman O'Donnell, charging Maggie Smith with the larceny of a high colored cloth wearing apparel. There will be a hearing in the case to-day.

At the matinee this afternoon Bulwer's comedy, "Money," will be repeated. To-night, at the farewell performance of the company, two excellent plays—"The Great City" and "Jonathan Bradford" will be rendered. The house should be crowded on both occasions.

Varieties Theater.

The female minstrels, in their gorgeous apparel, will appear at the matinee this afternoon, supported by the other artists of the Varieties company. To-night one of Fitz Simmons's best Saturday night programmes may be expected.

Academy of Music.

Cal. Wagner's minstrels appeared before a very large audience at the above theater last night. The performance was in every way good, and entirely free from objectionable features. We have not room to speak in detail of the members of the organization, and will content ourselves with saying that it would be hard to suggest an improvement in the matter or manner of the entertainment. Two more performances will be given—a matinee this afternoon, and in the evening. Go early if you would secure a seat.

Carncross and Dixey's Minstrels.

On Monday evening this famous organization will appear at the Academy of Music. Mr. John Carncross, the favorite tenor in the musical profession, will positively appear, as we are informed by private letter from the gentleman himself, at each entertainment. The first-part drolling Dixie Moran and Billy Moran will convulse their patrons with laughter, while all the other portions of the programme may be relied on fully up to Carncross and Dixey's usual high standard of excellence. Remember that the sale of tickets is in progress at Pittock & Co.'s book store.

Manning's Minstrels.

Of this troupe, who are to appear at the Pittsburgh Opera House on Monday evening, a Wheeling paper says: "As we anticipated, Washington Hall was filled last night, notwithstanding the strong attraction of Barnum's show. And the people were delighted. We heard but one expression all over the hall, and that was that it was the best minstrel performance ever given in Wheeling. The songs, acts, jokes, dances, everything in fact, were new and full of fun. Each and everything was excellently given, and well merited applause. There was not an objectionable word or gesture in the entire performance."

NEWS SUMMARY.

BY TELEGRAPH.

In Chicago, yesterday, two men named Rickson and Swan, engaged in removing the debris of the ruins of Grace Episcopal Church, were killed outright by a wall falling upon them.

THE GREAT WESTERN BAND.

The Trip to Philadelphia.

As our special telegrams have informed our readers the Great Western Band were awarded the post of honor on every occasion during its recent trip to Philadelphia with the Lincoln Club. The only unfortunate circumstance connected with the trip arose from the fact that the car containing the band was uncoupled from the special train containing the Club, at Altoona, occasioned by the unusual heating of the journals or, as more familiar to all travelers, "hot boxes."

The band reached Philadelphia about three hours after the train containing the Lincoln Club. The members took the Market street cars and quietly proceeded to the Girard House, where quarters had been arranged for them. After performing on the two pieces, just to let the boys know they were there, they were dismissed until the evening of Tuesday, when at 7 o'clock they were to appear at the Wigwam on the occasion of its formal opening. On entering the magnificent building they found awaiting them reserved seats on the stage. Beck's band of Philadelphia was engaged to furnish the music on the occasion, but Mr. Beck and his band made the Great Western a kindly welcome and the utmost harmony prevailed throughout. During the evening both bands together performed the "Duquesne Grey's Quickstep," the leadership being kindly accepted by Mr. Fred. Weber of the latter. It was received with the most deafening applause.

On Wednesday morning the Great Western paid a visit to Colonel Jay Cooke, of this city, and serenaded him, after which they were grandly entertained. At seven in the evening the band preceded the Lincoln Club to the Academy of Music and were ushered to seats on the stage. Their performance during the evening were rapturously appauded. The "Grey's Quickstep" played, as before, in conjunction with Beck's Band, brought forth the plaudits of the great throng present. A national pot pourri in parts, performed by the Great Western, brought down the house.

At the conclusion of the promenade on Wednesday evening the band was invited to a grand entertainment in Horticultural Hall, adjoining the Academy, and there was a fete in a right royal manner. Leaving here at a late hour they repaired to the Girard House. They had gone but a short distance before they were hailed by some Philadelphians and their presence demanded at the club room on Seventh and Chestnut streets. It was the closing and the boys had to go. Here they were again entertained in the most hospitable manner.

At 6:30 on Thursday evening everything was prepared for the trip home. Col. Stewart and others suggested a "good tune" in front of the Girard House. The boys consented, and at its conclusion Chestnut street was blocked with people from Eighth to Ninth. The band retired to the hotel, but an encore was demanded by the people on the street, and those on the balconies of the Continental and Girard Hotels. The desire of the people was complied with, and the efforts was rewarded with the most enthusiastic cheers. After this the Club formed in line, and, preceded by the band, marched out Chestnut street to the depot. The members of the Great Western band speak in the highest terms of the courtesy shown them by the musicians and people of Philadelphia, and will use the first opportunity to "set even." Well may our citizens be proud of the Great Western when such homage is paid to it in a city of such excellent musical taste as Philadelphia.

STREET COMMITTEE MEETING.

Sundry Improvements Contemplated—Ordinances Ordered.

Last evening the Street Committee of Councils met in regular session in their room in the new city building.

The City Engineer was instructed to invite proposals for a sewer on Forty-seventh street, from Butler street to the river; also for the grading of the thoroughfare.

The Street Commissioner of the Third district was authorized to raise the wooden pathways at the intersection of streets between Butler and Forty-fifth streets.

Some other unimportant business was transacted and the meeting adjourned.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The Walnut Street Theater company appeared last night in the fine old comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer," and gave it with such carefulness as to detail and general excellence in acting as made it one of the most delightful performances of the season.

At the matinee this afternoon Bulwer's comedy, "Money," will be repeated. To-night, at the farewell performance of the company, two excellent plays—"The Great City" and "Jonathan Bradford" will be rendered. The house should be crowded on both occasions.

Varieties Theater.

The female minstrels, in their gorgeous apparel, will appear at the matinee this afternoon, supported by the other artists of the Varieties company. To-night one of Fitz Simmons's best Saturday night programmes may be expected.

Academy of Music.

Cal. Wagner's minstrels appeared before a very large audience at the above theater last night. The performance was in every way good, and entirely free from objectionable features. We have not room to speak in detail of the members of the organization, and will content ourselves with saying that it would be hard to suggest an improvement in the matter or manner of the entertainment. Two more performances will be given—a matinee this afternoon, and in the evening. Go early if you would secure a seat.

Carncross and Dixey's Minstrels.

On Monday evening this famous organization will appear at the Academy of Music. Mr. John Carncross, the favorite tenor in the musical profession, will positively appear, as we are informed by private letter from the gentleman himself, at each entertainment. The first-part drolling Dixie Moran and Billy Moran will convulse their patrons with laughter, while all the other portions of the programme may be relied on fully up to Carncross and Dixey's usual high standard of excellence. Remember that the sale of tickets is in progress at Pittock & Co.'s book store.

Manning's Minstrels.

Of this troupe, who are to appear at the Pittsburgh Opera House on Monday evening, a Wheeling paper says: "As we anticipated, Washington Hall was filled last night, notwithstanding the strong attraction of Barnum's show. And the people were delighted. We heard but one expression all over the hall, and that was that it was the best minstrel performance ever given in Wheeling. The songs, acts, jokes, dances, everything in fact, were new and full of fun. Each and everything was excellently given, and well merited applause. There was not an objectionable word or gesture in the entire performance."

THE LATE HON. THOMAS WILLIAMS.

Meeting of the Bar—Tribute of Respect—Resolutions, Etc.

The members of the Bar met in the Common Pleas Court room yesterday morning, to pay their tribute of respect to the memory of Hon. Thomas Williams. The meeting was large and comprised all the prominent members of the profession in the city. On motion of Mr. M. W. Acheson, Hon. Moses Hampton was called to the chair, and the following gentlemen selected as Vice Presidents: Hon. James P. Sterrett, Hon. Edwin H. Stowe, Hon. F. H. Collier, Hon. John M. Kirkpatrick, James I. Kuhn, Robert Woods, Thomas MacConnell and C. B. M. Smith.

The Secretaries were S. H. Geyer and Robert B. Carnahan.

After organization James I. Kuhn, Esq., former law partner of the deceased, announced the death of Mr. Williams, and proceeded to give a sketch of his life, professional career and public services; referring to his extensive and varied learning, stating him not only as a leading lawyer, just and upright in the discharge of his duties, but a scholar of profound learning—well versed in polite literature, an accomplished Latin, Greek and French linguist. He paid a glowing tribute to his purity of life, kindness of heart, and zeal in the pursuits of his profession. In conclusion he moved that a committee on resolutions be appointed, which was adopted.

The following gentlemen were named: John H. Bampton, Thomas M. Marshall, M. W. Acheson, George Shras, Jr., and A. M. Brown.

During the absence of the Committee, Mr. W. D. Moore spoke at length of the virtues and acquirements of the deceased.

The Committee, after a brief absence, returned, and upon the conclusion of Mr. Moore's remarks, presented the following resolutions, which were read and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Pittsburgh Bar have learned with sincere sorrow of the sudden demise of the Hon. Thomas Williams, and are desirous as a body to pay a proper tribute of respect to his memory as one of its most worthy and distinguished members, therefore, in token of its purpose publicly to honor his name as an eminent lawyer, a good citizen, and a cherished friend.

Resolved, That his purity in all the relations of private life, his unsullied reputation as a lawyer, his unassailed integrity as a public servant for many years in the discharge of responsible duties, alike entitle him to the commendation of his brethren of the bar, the greater part of whom have enjoyed intimate and a place in his history among the statesmen of his native State and this nation.

Resolved, That his long and successful career at the bar was full of honor, shedding lustre upon the profession he adorned by his great and varied learning, his untiring study, and a scrupulous regard for its high and ennobling duties.

Resolved, That in him were united an exact knowledge of the law, scholarly acquirements and literary tastes of a high order, and a concededly ready ability to write and speak with rare beauty and masterly power seldom failing to the lot of any man, all combining to make him great by the side of those with whom he was associated.

Resolved, That whether considered as a lawyer, a statesman, or a citizen, his life, now closed, is worthy of emulation; and that hereafter be fitly spoken of by his friend and brother, as husband, goodness and truth, and his tomb as holding imperishably even in death, one of Pittsburgh's noblest sons.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with his bereaved family in this the hour of their great affliction, and kindly tender them our condolence in the loss of an affectionate husband, an indulgent father, and a beloved brother.

Resolved, That the Bar in a body proceed from the Court House to the family residence, to attend the funeral on Saturday, and that a Committee of three be appointed to present a copy of these resolutions to the family.

Resolved, That the several courts of this county be requested by the same committee to order the proceedings of this meeting to be spread at length on their minutes.

The following committee was appointed to have the resolutions engrossed and properly attested to the family of Mr. Williams: James I. Kuhn, S. H. Geyer and B. B. Carnahan. On motion it was decided that the members of the Bar shall meet at two o'clock this afternoon to attend the funeral in a body.

The meeting then adjourned.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Common Pleas—Judges Stowe and Collier.

Happe and Quitter vs. Thomas Keilbacker. This was a novel case. The plaintiffs kept a public house and sold out to the defendant. Among the supplies of the bar (as claimed by defendant but denied by plaintiffs) was a little toy house, made by an ingenious combination of sickle cents, numbering between sixteen and seventeen hundred. The case was still on trial when our reporter left the court room.

Yesterday afternoon the case of Bell vs. Moran was called up on the docket, and the testimony of the plaintiff in rebuttal was heard. The attorneys for the defendant refused to cross-examine, and the case was given to the jury without argument. The jury retired, and after a brief debate, passed the bill by the required constitutional majority of two-thirds—yeas 101, nays 44.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a message from the President, calling the attention of Congress to the act approved 14th July, 1870, directing the Secretary of War to place at the disposal of the President certain bronze cannon for the erection of an equestrian statue of General J. A. Rawlins, etc. The President says that no provision of law is named or parties designated to whom the ordinance is to be delivered. In order to remove ambiguity he desires Congress to signify what shall be done. The selection of tickets is in progress at Pittock & Co.'s book store.

Manning's Minstrels.

SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1872.

It is difficult to conceive of anything more painfully humiliating than the course which Senator Sumner the other day found it necessary to adopt with regard to that portion of his late speech which embraced Secretary Stanton's alleged deathbed conversation concerning President Grant. We said, in remarking on the speech some days ago, that the Senator's poisoned arrows would soon return to wound his own breast. Already he finds it necessary to call witnesses to his veracity. Charles Sumner, the National Censor, compelled to accept the good offices of an acquaintance to prove that he is not a deliberate falsifier of the truth. Than this, nothing can be more pitiful.

The nomination of Hon. Henry Wilson for the Vice Presidency being equivalent to an election, aspirants for his seat in the United States Senate are said to be already making efforts to secure the vacancy. Senator Wilson was re-elected to serve six years from the 4th of March, 1871, and at the commencement of the next Presidential term there will remain four years of the unexpired term. It is predicted that the successful candidate will be either Secretary Boutwell or Henry L. Dawes, the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means. The opinion among those intimate with the sentiment of the Republicans of Massachusetts is that Mr. Boutwell will be Mr. Wilson's successor.

The likelihood of the failure of the Washing Treaty is, of course, exceedingly gratifying to General Butler; but that is no reason why any of his constituents should endeavor to embroil this country with Canada. This, however, some of them appear inflexibly bent on doing. A Gloucester fishing vessel was, a few days ago, captured by the Dominion authorities in the act of fishing close in shore, nearly three miles beyond the recognized limits within which the right of fishing exists until such limits shall have been extended by the ratification of the pending treaty. The pugnacious fishermen, however, are said to be indignant that their vessel has been seized while in the act of violating international law, and talk about organizing an expedition for the purpose of cutting her out from the custody of the Canadian authorities, by whom she is held for adjudication. It is to be hoped General Butler, whose influence over the Gloucester fishermen is said to be very great, may not fail to exert it in a proper manner, by restraining them from their contemplated purpose.

The New York Herald contains an interesting description of a new and highly important application which has recently been made of electricity for the purpose of measuring temperatures. That journal sets forth the great scientific advantages to be derived from it, in consequence of the fact that it will enable physicists to explore the deep seas and detect their various thermal and boreal currents, as well as test the temperature of the upper atmospheres, and otherwise assist to solve the mysteries of the physical mechanism of our globe. The English government is now fitting out a vessel to convey a party of scientists on a four years' cruise of submarine explorations and surveys, in which the new instrument is expected to bear a conspicuous part and prove of great value. It seems, however, that its application to the study of ocean physics and solar phenomena is only one of the many uses to which it can be put. It is said to have been already used in the most delicate operations of the blast furnace, and to have recorded with unerring precision their exact increase and decrease of temperature. It promises, therefore, to become a most valuable ally of our manufacturers, and will doubtless be utilized by them accordingly.

Great interests depend upon the cotton crop of this country, and there is much concern exhibited both at home and in England in regard to the yield for the current year. The total supply from last year will not exceed three million bales. The growing crop is reported as looking very fine in nearly all the States, but it is too soon to indicate anything as to the future. There is a larger area under cultivation this year than there was last, and under favorable circumstances the yield ought to aggregate four million bales. Last year's crop was a short one, and present prices are so high that English manufacturers cannot pay them and sell the manufactured goods at a profit. There is greater anxiety, in Europe, since it is known that there will be no increase in the supply from other countries than the United States. This tends to keep up prices here. France and some other countries are expected to increase their consumption, and well informed Americans claim that there will be no material reduction in prices even should the crop exceed four million bales. Our imports are larger than ever before, as was stated a few days ago, and unless we can largely increase our cotton exports during the remainder of the year, it will be necessary to continue the export of specie in large amounts to liquidate the heavy balance against us. This drain of the precious metals would compel the banks to restrict their loans, and tighten the money market. Hence the great importance attached to the cotton crop.

One of the most important acts of the present Congress is the final passage of the Tax and Tariff bill, whereby the country will be relieved of taxation amounting in the aggregate to $53,000,000 annually. The total reduction within the last two years is $140,000,000. These measures of the Republican party for the relief of the most important interests of the country cannot fail to command the hearty commendation of all right thinking men. The magnitude of these reductions has no parallel in the history of the country. They have been made voluntarily, and with a view to relieving the burdens of the people as fast as the requirements of the government would allow, without exposing other interests to sudden and disastrous changes. While lightening taxation, the party has also striven to curtail the expenses of the government to the lowest point consistent with effectiveness. Increased efficiency in the civil service has tended materially to this result. The bill just passed reduces the number of collectors and assessors two hundred and seventy-five, and repeals the moieties to informers. In the face of these facts there are those unscrupulous enough to charge the administration with corruption, extravagance, and a desire to oppress the people for the benefit of office-holders! These unfounded accusations may deceive the ignorant and the prejudiced, but there are thousands of intelligent Democrats who appreciate the truth; and, however they may differ with the Republican administration on other questions, give it credit for integrity and general trustworthiness.

FACT VS. ILLUSION.

Referring to the Philadelphia Convention before hearing of its final action, the Freiheits Freund of yesterday spoke of Gen. Grant's unanimous and enthusiastic nomination as perfectly certain, and then said:

"In the immense assembly composed of the pith and flower of the Republican party at present meeting in the city of Brotherly Love, not the slightest germ of discord has disturbed the proceedings. The Cincinnati movement, which lately seemed to have produced a fatal division in the ranks of the Republican party, has been manifestly overrated in its importance. Instead of being able to dissolve, it has, upon the whole, rather strengthened the Republican party organization. The miserable game of intrigue played by the Blair-Brown clique in Cincinnati, fairly opened the eyes of those Liberals who, like Friedrich Hecker, Judge Stallo, and their associates, were earnest in the matter of reform, as to the real aims of the professional politicians who took the lead in the convention. But the pitiable fiasco of the Reformers has also essentially contributed to kindle anew confidence and enthusiasm in the Republican camp. Then, Mr. Sumner's last, hysterical attack upon the tribe prompted by measureless passion, has, as we foretold, produced an effect completely the opposite of that its author intended. Sumner, in his mistaken way, had abandoned himself to the illusion, that on the eve of the assembling of the Republican National Convention, he could give President Grant the finishing stroke. In a speech of four hours, and a long while beforehand in preparation, he had brought together all the topics of accusation against the present chief of the executive, and had dragged forth the declarations which should have been confided to him by celebrated men on their death beds, in order to render his assault as formidable as possible. But mark the result; the poisoned arrows rebounded upon him who discharged them. The American people at once saw through the motives of the assailant. From the animosity and malignity of the attack it was clear to them that the object of its sentiments and not to promote the real good of the country and the interests of the Republican party. Nothing, therefore, could have been more favorable to Grant's renomination at Philadelphia and better adapted to open the eyes of the Republican party as to the character of the chief leader of the Liberal movement, than that ultimate and malignant assault upon our President.

"Every true Republican must foresee the peril of intrusting leadership in the hands of such men as Sumner and consorts, who are ready to sacrifice to their personal inclinations and antipathies all other considerations of the public good; men who stand prepared for the accomplishment of their ambitious schemes to enter into league with the deadly enemies of the party. The circumstance especially that the demands of the Reform party, in so far as they are grounded in right, were long ago adopted, and in part carried out by the predominant party, cannot but confirm the opinion that the present Reform movement is quite destitute of foundation in principle."

The Freund concludes its article by pointing out the fact, that the Republican Congress by its acts has stripped the adherents of the Cincinnati platform of every distinctive means upon which they relied, except the one term principle, as it is absurdly called. This demand, it remarks, is a direct assault upon the rights and privileges of the people, who alone may decide whom they will have for President. A constitutional provision which should declare the President not re-eligible, might under circumstances easily imagined as possible to occur, involve the nation in the most serious embarrassment and disaster. Indeed, such a situation actually existed when Lincoln was elected for his second term. Even in ordinary times thoughtful people feel that it is better to re-elect a worthy incumbent of the office, as they are going to do this year. But the so-called Reformers are peculiarly inconsistent in favoring a single term, inasmuch as the foundation of civil service reform, of which they claim to be the exclusive champions, is the evil of frequent and sudden change of officers, especially for political reasons. The ablest man requires considerable time to become master of the duties of the highest office in the country, and may be justly said to need a second term that he may afford full proof of his Presidential ministry. The truth is, the Reformers, in their hatred of General Grant, lose sight of and care little for consistency. But the people say, with the Freund, "With us the integrity of the party is more and higher than a single person. And we therefore refuse to unite with a combination which meditates desertion into the enemy's camp. The party which was able triumphantly to end the conflict with the slaveholders of the South, will also have sufficient vital energy within to carry through the needful reforms in its own strength without the assistance of its enemies."

OUR NEXT VICE PRESIDENT.

Senator Henry Wilson, Republican candidate for the Vice Presidency of the United States, was born in New Hampshire in 1812, and is therefore sixty years of age. He is a self-educated man, and owes his advancement and distinction solely to his own unaided efforts. There is much in the history of his earlier life which resembles that of President Lincoln—his lowly birth, his humble toils, his tastes for reading, his struggles to obtain an education, his brave and resolute battling with adverse circumstances, his conspicuous advocacy of the rights of the poor and lowly, and the sustained manhood and integrity which he has carried into all places and positions he ever filled. As farm apprentice, shoemaker, student, editor, publicist, historian, member of the Legislature of his State and of the Senate of the United States, he has always used his powers and opportunities for the benefit of his countrymen and the advancement of the best interests of the race. There is not a man in the country who can show a clearer record. Cradled in the anti-slavery faith, his name is indissolubly connected with every constitutional and legal measure taken for its extinction. As early as 1835, while yet hardly more than a boy, he advocated the emancipation of the slaves, and in 1845, conjointly with the poet Whittier, he was delegated by his State to carry to Washington the mammoth anti-slavery petition of its citizens against the annexation of Texas. In the same year he introduced and carried through the Legislature a resolution declaring the inflexible opposition of Massachusetts to the further extension of slavery in any part of the country. Three years later he withdrew from the Whig National Convention on account of its rejection of an anti-slavery plank. He took a prominent part in the organization of the Free Soil party in 1848, and for four years afterwards filled the position of Chairman of its Massachusetts Committee. In 1852 he was made Chairman of the Free Soil National Convention, which assembled in this city, and Chairman of the National Committee of the party. In 1855 he was elected to the United States Senate, his maiden speech in that body being a powerful argument for the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law and the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia and the Territories. His course in the Senate during the Kansas troubles was marked by the same devotion to freedom; and his answer to the famous "mud sill" speech of Senator Hammond, of South Carolina, in 1856, was one of the noblest vindications of the dignity of labor ever made. During the war he was Chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, in which capacity he rendered inestimable service to the national cause. No man has been more regardful of the claims of the private soldiers, or more indefatigable in securing to them the bounties, back pay, pensions, and other rights which they had so dearly earned. Nor have the freedman ever had a truer friend or one who by incontrovertible actions has manifested for them a more unselfish and helpful sympathy. Indeed, from the beginning of his public career, until now, he has labored without let or pause for the rights of manhood and of labor, and for the improvement and elevation of all classes and conditions of society, without distinction of race, creed or color. His nomination is everywhere received with approval and commendation, and he will make a dignified, impartial and able presiding officer of the Senate.

After all, the strength or weakness of National Conventions probably lies as much in their platforms as in their choice of candidates; and, notwithstanding the strong and satisfactory character of the nominations made by the National Republican Convention, just adjourned, it was of the utmost importance that it should express itself aright concerning the principles and policies on which the Republican party bases its claim to popular confidence and support. This was done. The declaration of views promulgated by the Convention is in as close sympathy with the interests, needs and requirements of the people as are the candidates themselves, and its ringing earnestness and straightforwardness will take a not less strong hold on the intelligent and reflective classes of the country. It is broadly just and wisely generous, guarding the rights and recognizing the immunities of the whole people, and guaranteeing the continued development of all healthy progress and reforms during the next four years. Amnesty, protection for all in the equal enjoyment and employment of all civil, political and social rights; the inviolate maintenance of the national faith; the preservation of the public domain for free homes for the people; the reform of the civil service; the abolition of the franking privilege; the protection of the ballot box; the reduction of taxation as rapidly as possible, and the adjustment of the tariff in such a manner as will best secure remunerative wages to labor and promote the industries, growth and prosperity of the whole country—these are some of the cardinal points of the declaration. They will be reduced to practice, too, and woe betide whatever obstinate or huckstering politician shall attempt to obstruct their unhindered operation.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

Professor Liebig, in a late lecture on poisons, said that "People were foolish in using arsenic to poison their enemies, for the billionth of a grain can be traced in the stomach;" and "If the person should die it remains there forever. Arsenic is so injurious when used in coloring materials that he even objects to children using green-covered school books.

The King of Sweden is offering premiums for the best plans of torpedo boats, but has not signified whom he is planning to blow up.

A citizen of Columbus, South Carolina, who has been deaf and dumb for nine years, caused by a gun-shot wound received in battle, has just recovered the use of his voice under skillful medical treatment and astonishment at the nomination of Horace Greeley for the Presidency.

The workmen engaged in blasting for a railroad tunnel in Kentucky, the other day penetrated to a cavity containing an immense nest of rattlesnakes, the number of which was estimated at several hundred. They were kukluxed.

The ruins of Fort Sumter will shortly be removed, and a new fort constructed on its site, unless, that is, the Tribune should object on the ground that it menaces the "local self government" of the Charlestonians.

A man incarcerated in the New York Tombs has been figuring in chalk on the walls of his cell: "In New York city the spires of 342 churches, worth $41,130,000, point heavenward. I'm here for stealing a loaf of bread for my starving child." Is there any satire in it?

By a recent ordinance San Francisco offers ten dollars for every corpse fished up in its bay. Persons are now engaged in dragging for the Liberal Republican movement.

Do you know how the weeping willow was introduced into England and this country? It was in this wise: The first scion was sent from Smyrna in a box of figs to Alexander Pope. General Clinton brought a shoot from Pope's tree to America in the time of the Revolution, which, passing into the hands of John Parke Custis, was planted on his estate in Virginia, and became the father of a vast progeny.

A man in Connecticut had a needle taken from his back two or three days ago that had been fifty years threading its way to the surface.

A Georgia chemist has invented a distilling apparatus compact enough to be kept on one's bed-room mantel-piece and capable of producing some twenty-five bottles of whisky per day. He has named it the Bourbon's ode mecum.

A considerable to-do is made in the scientific world over the recent discovery of the skeleton of a fossilized pre-historic man in an Italian cavern. That's nothing. There are hundreds of such fossils in the Southern States and not a few in the North, all of whom, dead as they are, still insist on keeping up a pretense of being alive. Some of them edit Democratic newspapers.

PERSONAL.

A correspondent of the Warren (Pa.,) Mail tells a good story of Horace Greeley, which is not found in his "Recollections of a Busy Life." In 1841 the correspondent was working at a saw mill in Wrightsville. Greeley being in that section on a visit to his father's family, came along canvassing for his paper. He started to cross the pond on loose logs. Now such logs never will keep still. They bolt, and the bolting philosopher soon found himself on two logs and two legs spreading wider and wider apart the longer he tried to stand still! The writer called to him to go ahead, but he didn't, he only went in up to his neck, and that's all he knows about riding a saw log. Now if he can't ride two saw logs in one direction how can he ride two horses running in different directions, without going under? That's the question.

The partnership of Samuel Bowles & Company, at Springfield, Mass., has been dissolved, Mr. Bowles retaining the Republican newspaper, and Messrs. Bryan & Tapley the job printing and binding business. Bryan & Tapley have also purchased the Union newspaper, and, as one result, Springfield will hereafter have two good papers instead of one.

At the recent Missouri Editorial Convention, Captain Elihu H. Shephard of St. Louis, and N. W. Mack, Sr., of Booneville, met for the first time since they parted on the banks of the St. Lawrence in 1813. They were both at Albany in 1807; both took part at the battle of Christler's farm, on the St. Lawrence, in 1813, both saw Fulton run his first steamboat; and witnessed the American army leave Canada.

Every one who knows him will rejoice to hear that the health of Hon. Samuel S. Cox is much improved. During his short, though severe illness, there have been many sympathetic callers, all of whom exhibited great concern regarding the distinguished gentlemen's welfare. His army of friends will be glad to learn that he is rapidly recovering.

It seems almost certain that Emperor William of Germany is gradually sinking into his grave. His physicians have from time to time latterly pronounced him "indisposed but recovering," but it now appears that his strength is steadily failing, and that he himself fears approaching dissolution. He still persists in taking active exercise, and hunts and fishes as of old, spending half his time in the open air. The physicians have forbidden him this pastime, but he laughs them to scorn. It would not be very singular if the old monarch should die in the saddle.

It is said that Senator Sumner's house is fairly cumbered with gifts received from our representatives abroad during his chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations. They overflow every room, from the wine-vault to the attic. Some of them are of great value in a commercial point of view. Would it not be well for him to pull the beam out of his own eye before making such a fuss about the imaginary mote in the President's.

Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, whose death occurred on Saturday at Cornwall, Ontario, must not be confounded with the Hon. Sir John Alexander Macdonald, Minister of Justice and Attorney General of Canada. Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, though an older man, has followed somewhat in the footsteps of Sir John A. Macdonald. The latter was Attorney General of Ontario before the Confederation, and when he became Premier of Canada Hon. John S. Macdonald, now deceased, was appointed to the place, and held it until the downfall of the Conservative Ministry at the last session of the Ontario Parliament.

Col. John D. Henderson, formerly of Allegheny, and known during the border troubles as "Fighting Jack Henderson," has just arrived in New York from San Domingo, where he has been sojourning for about four years. He is on his way to visit his friends in Virginia. He says that the united voice of San Domingo is for annexation, but his statements are to be taken cum grano salis.

This is in accordance with the fitness of things. A man named Bacchus sells beer and Mr. Plugg is a tobacconist on Pennsylvania avenue in Washington. Mr. Stamp, also, is a clerk in the city postoffice.

One of the Texas delegates to the National Republican Convention stands upwards of seven feet in his boots, and attracts considerable attention by his eloquence. He was a slave in Virginia the greater part of his life, but in spite of that great obstacle to the improvement of his mind, he has evidently secured a good education.

John G. Whittier is one of the many old anti-slavery men that unite in regretting and condemning the recent speech of Senator Sumner.

As the hot weather approaches the occasional use of disinfectants about houses and premises will be found a wise precaution. One of the cheapest and most effectual of these is copperas. Mixed in the proportion of one pound of copperas to eight quarts of water, and, when thoroughly dissolved, poured down drains or sinks, it will in a very few minutes remove any offensive smell. It is used in London for sprinkling about the streets.

An Italo-American Express Company has recently been organized in New York whose object is to facilitate the transportation of goods and money between this country and Italy.

A Dead Delusion.

The theory that human beings whose strength has been exhausted by pain and sickness can be restored by depleting medicines and water gruel, if not absolutely a dead delusion, is in the last agonies of dissolution. At length it is understood that strength cannot be purged into a debilitated frame, though life may easily be purged out of it, and that it is about as wise to withold a healthful stimulant from the weak, in the expectation that they will rally without one, as it would be to deprive a lamp of oil and expect it to burn the brighter for it.

The immense and uniform success which has attended the use of that wonderful combination of a pure stimulant with the finest medicinal herbs, known as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has largely assisted in dispelling the absurd chimera. Frantic attempts are made to revive it, but in vain. When the sick feel that their strength is departing, and that, unless invigorated they must utterly break down, it is in vain to tender them feculent slops in the place of genuine restoratives. They may be imposed upon in this way once, but the imposition cannot be repeated. They desire to be refreshed, comforted, braced up, and decline to be griped a second time.

Under the operation of the Bitters, on the other hand, all the processes necessary to physical restora, tion go on simultaneously. The system is stimulated and toned, the bowels regulated, the appetite cultivated, the nerves composed and the condition of the blood improved at one and the same time by a single medicine. Common sense tells us that such a preparation must be invaluable.

First Mortgage 7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds of the Milwaukee and Nashua Railway Co.,

At 90, and accrued interest from the 1st of November to date. This Bond is unusually strong being a combined Mortgage on all the Real Estate and Railroad Property of the Road; and each bondholder is further secured by the record of mortgage at the county seats through which the Road passes, and also vested in the Union Trust Company, of New York City,

As Trustees for bondholders. The Road is 130 miles long, and connects Milwaukee, Wisconsin, with the great Pacific Railroads, and terminates at St. Joseph, Missouri. It is one of the most profitable enterprises passing over a rich and populous country, making the shortest route and most important link between the great Lakes and the Pacific, as also all intermediate connections North and South. The Road is being rapidly constructed, and the amount of Bonds ($1,000 each) is limited in issue. The present price will be advanced as the construction progresses toward completion. FINANCE AND TRADE

FRIDAY EVENING, June 7, 1872.

The local money market continues quiet and a fair supply of funds is finding its way on to the street. Good borrowers are accommodated at their banks, but no encouragement is held out by the bank to extend their lines beyond the immediate necessities of business. The easing off of money is bringing into notice the various investment loans now offering.

—Most of the reliable securities now on the market will be found in our advertising columns. The city water loan extension bonds are selling freely. By reference to the books of the City Treasurer we find that the majority of this loan and the Penn avenue bonds, the latter being purely registered bonds, have been registered in the names of trustees, guardians and insurance companies and various forms of trust funds.

—The Allegheny Valley sevens, indorsed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, find ready sale to business men, who invest temporarily their funds and wish them in shape to realize readily.

—Fair sales of Northern Pacific gold 7-30s are reported.

—The Birmingham Market bonds, of which the investor can select the five, ten or fifteen year bonds, as he wishes them, are selling quietly to North Side purchasers, who seek excutably a home security.

—The Pennsylvania Company offer $4,800,000 of their common stock at par. The preferred stock is all held by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. As this western bureau of the Central owns the lease of all the lines west of this point, including such roads as the Cleveland and Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne, the stock cannot fail soon to be on the dividend list and rank along side of the parent company.

—The bids for the Treasury gold amounted to $6,730,000, at figures ranging from 113 13-16 to 114.56. Awards of $2,000,000 were made at 114.47 to 114.56. The heavy bids indicate faith in a firm gold market.

—Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co. report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

IRON MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

June 5.—There has been a better inquiry for Scotch pig from consumers, but holders prefer to store rather than sell at present prices, and business has been restricted in consequence. Scotch pig quotable at $45 with transfer of a sale of 1,000 tons at Philadelphia at about $43, the which we could not trace to any authentic source. Glengarnock may be quoted $50 on the spot, $49 to arrive, and Dartherrie $52, without the spot. Tennessee pig continues dull as last noted, deliveries still being made with difficulty; we quote No 1 Soft $42@43, and No 2 $41@42, cash on the place. We understand that $50 was refused for No 1 Thomas. Rails are without change; we quote $56@57 gold for iron and $67@75 for new English, without sales. New American may be quoted about $60@65, with no sales of consequence reported to the public. Scrap is quiet but firm, the stock being light; we quote $26 at dock, with sales of Forest Works at $27. Bolts and rods are firm. Refined bar from store continues steady and firm at our quotations.

Import of iron into New York from Jan. 1 to May 31, 1872:

Bar and Nails—Market steady at old quotations. With fair demand.—Commercial Review.

The Wool Clip of 1872.

The wool clip for this State, says the Michigan Farmer, in its last issue, promises at present to come in late. The work of the farm and the odd season seem to have combined to keep the sheep shearing back. Flocks are looking well and it will probably be the last week in June ere the market for the clip will be in full activity. * * * In regard to the clip of this State, we would say that we have surveyed the flocks in very many of the leading wool growing districts with a good deal of care, and we think the flocks are not as large in the aggregate as they were last year. We do not think there will be as much wool clipped in the State of Michigan in 1872 as there was in 1871 by nearly ten per cent. There has been no general effort made to keep up and increase the flocks of sheep. The premium prices paid last spring did not stimulate our wool growers to make any effort or preparation to increase their flocks. The result is that the high tariff has only served to cause many stock feeders to commence feddering a month earlier that usual, alarmed at the scarcity of stores of provender, and therefore flocks were turned out and reduced in numbers, while those who had no alarm on this score have sold their wool because their feed was not plenty. Then again, the present prices of wool were not sufficient to attract the farmer, and after the flocks had been reduced, so that there was no chance to invest in sheep even had the farmers been willing. It is with these conjunctures and facts in view that we say, after seeing for ourselves what the condition of the flocks are in regard to numbers, that we do not believe the clip this year will be as large in the aggregate as it was last year. We believe, as fully as we can get information, that the same state of things prevails in the largest wool producing States west of the Rocky Mountains, and that is Ohio. In regard to New York and the New England States, we have no reason to believe there is any material change in production in them. West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas and Iowa may show a slight increase, but the aggregate of increase will be so small it will not affect the general result or influence the market. Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Minnesota are not States whose production of wool is as yet sufficient to influence trade or materially affect prices by quantity alone.

The foreign trade shows no symptoms of decline or weakness. We therefore see nothing to change the opinions we have held for the past six months and more, that during the season of 1872 there will be a great scarcity in wool. It will be in demand and prices will be maintained very high. That as a matter that comes round with the season, strong efforts will be made to depress prices to the injury of the clip, but that after it has passed into second hands, wool will rule as certainly as it did last year, and its price will be governed by it as closely as scarcity and the demand for it, which will be lively all the year.

THE VERY LATEST.

WASHINGTON.

Schenck's Letter to Granville.

Our Minister Entirely Too Hasty.

A Water Famine in the City.

An All-Night Session in the Senate.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 7, 1872.

Schenck's Letter to Granville.

The following is the text of Minister Schenck's letter to Lord Granville, which the latter read in the House of Lords last night, where it was received with cheers, and upon which Lord Russell withdrew his address to the Queen:

LONDON, June 6.—MY LORD: In the conversation we had yesterday, and which was resumed this morning, you stated to me that Her Majesty's government have always thought the language proposed by them in the draft of the article as it stood sufficient for the purpose of removing and putting an end to all demands on the part of the United States in respect to those direct claims which they put forth in their case at Geneva, and to the admissability of which Her Majesty's government have objected, but that there were those who doubted whether the terms used were explicit enough to make that perfectly clear, and to prevent those same claims from being put forward again. I concurred with you in your view as to the sufficiency of the language used in that clause of the proposed article, and which the government of the United States had accepted, and I repelled the idea that any one should think it possible that the government of United States, if they should yield those claims for its consideration in a settlement between the two countries, would seek to bring them up in future, or would insist that they were still before the arbitrators for their consideration. I am now authorized, in a telegraphic dispatch received to-day from Mr. Fish, to say that the government of the United States regards the new rule contained in the proposed article as the consideration for and to be accepted as a final settlement of the three classes of indirect claims put forth in the case of the United States, to which the government of Great Britain have objected.

I have, &c., SCHENCK.

The President and Mr. Fish were very much surprised by the press dispatches from London, printed this morning, showing that a written communication to the above effect had been engraved in Granville's hand by Schenck. It was only intended that he should informally convey the views taken of the language of the additional article by the President and State Department to Lord Granville, and not give it to him in an official note, and Schenck has been notified of his mistake to-day, and informed that he must make Lord Granville aware of it. It is understood that the President holds that since the English ministry is satisfied with the language of the proposed article, the United States cannot consent at present to side with the opposition. General Schenck, in his communication regarding the matter says that under the circumstances he thought best to assume the responsibility of putting the views of the State Department into writing. Secretary Fish has telegraphed Schenck that the Senate is impatient, the administration is impatient, and the press is impatient, and the opinion is gaining ground that the opposition to the article is captious and springs from a desire to break up the Geneva Conference.

A Water Famine.

The Potomac water has been entirely shut off the cities of Washington and Georgetown for over two full days. The public notice given led to the belief that when first shut off Wednesday night, it was to be turned on again in the morning, and the inconvenience has been such as to border on a public calamity. The few pumps fed by springs in the city have been surrounded day and night by crowds of people, and the action of the police has been necessary in many cases to suppress disorders. There have been several fires, but each fortunately in isolated buildings. The fear of fire among citizens amounts almost to panic. The whole trouble arose from mismanagement in attempts to make connection at the reservoirs with the new water main just laid down.

Senator Wilson's Successor.

In case Senator Wilson is elected Vice President, his successor in the Senate will be elected by a new Legislature. The prominent names mentioned in this connection with his place are Dawes, Boutwell, Butler, Governor Claflin, George B. Loring and Rockwell Hoar. It is understood that Butler intends to begin working. Dawes and Boutwell are recorded as having the best chance.

An All-Night Session.

At the evening session, with Pomeroy in the chair, Kellogg moved to attach the enforcement bill to the civil appropriation, and Pomeroy ruled it in order. An appeal from the decision of the chair was laid on the table, on motion of Mr. Conkling, by a six majority. Mr. Thurman then moved to postpone the bill, and debate is now, at midnight, progressing upon the whole subject, and the chances are for an all-night session.

How to Get Rich.

More money is made on real estate than in any other way.

The most is made by buying where improvement must come and before it gets there. If you wait for improvement you lose the chance of profit. It will be where the lines of communication, and is always greatest where the means of communication are best.

The only place in Pittsburgh that has the advantage of two railroads is North Homestead, in the Twenty-second ward; thirty-eight daily accommodation trains now stop at its stations.

It is laid out in building sites averaging over a quarter acre exclusive of the streets, which are all 60 feet wide. It will be sold on Monday, June 17, for ten annual payments, without interest, for less than half the price required in other places, with but half the advantages of accessibility. Outside of all this, it is an airy, healthy and exquisitely beautiful locality. If you want to double your money inside of a year, you have knowledge enough for a sensible man.

Popular Now and Always.

A great many articles when first put on the market for sale gain a rapid notoriety, and after a short time lose it and are at last utterly forgotten by those who were loudest in their praises. But such has not been the fate of the American buttonhole overseaming and complete family sewing machine. From the first day of its introduction in this city down to the present time it has steadily increased in popular favor, and we predict that it will continue to merit the good will of all who have occasion to use it as long as it is a candidate for the popular favor. Those of our readers who want a machine and have not yet examined the American should do so before making up their mind to take another. Remember that it is the only sewing machine manufactured capable of working a button hole. Call and see the American at the sewing machine parlor of Mr. James Espy, No. 178 Liberty street.

IS DR. HUNTER'S PRACTICE SUCCESSFUL?

TESTIMONY FROM RESIDENTS OF PITTSBURGH.

A CARD

FROM SAMUEL ORR, ESQ.,

Of the Firm of Ewens & Orr, Plumbers and Gas Fitters, Fourth Avenue.

PITTSBURGH, PA., June 1, 1872.

Dr. Hunter has treated me for about six weeks for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, which has afflicted me for years. His instrument and remedies are the only means I ever obtained which proved efficacious.

I have rapidly improved since I commenced their use, and confidently advise all persons similarly afflicted to go to him for relief.

SAMUEL ORR,
109 Fourth avenue.

A CARD

FROM HENRY FEURHAKE,

Of the Firm of Armor, Feurhake & Co., Lithographers, Nos. 26 and 28 Sixth Street, Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, PA., May 15, 1872.

I consulted Dr. J. A. Hunter about three weeks since for Catarrh and Deafness of over ten years standing.

I have rapidly improved since he took charge of my case. My hearing has almost entirely returned in one ear, and is daily improving in the other.

Dr. Hunter has succeeded in my case after many leading physicians of this city had failed to afford me the least relief. I am satisfied that he is a skillful physician and deserves the confidence of invalids.

HENRY FEURHAKE,
Nos. 26 and 28 Sixth street,
Formerly St. Clair street.

ULCERATED AND MALIGNANT SORE THROAT CURED.

Six weeks since I became afflicted with a form of Sore Throat from which I suffered agony night and day. My throat was covered with large, deep ulcers, and I was unable to eat or sleep, and so weak I could scarcely walk.

I consulted two physicians of this city, but they did not give me the least relief. I was advised to go to Dr. Hunter and did so. I commenced to improve at once, and am now able to go to work again. I feel that both his skill and kindness toward me deserve some return beyond the fee which I paid him, and also that it is my duty to tell others afflicted as I was where they will find a physician who can relieve them.

LAST DAY—
PROF. O. S. FOWLER.

Consultations and Advice as to your own and Children's Phrenology, Best Business Improvement, &c., at the Allegheny Central Hotel; closes June 11th, at 6 P. M.

From the Earliest Ages

Scrofula has been the bane and, as it were, the curse of the human race. In those days the disease was called Leprosy, but later it got to be title of King's Evil, and still later it got the name of Scrofula, which is a term given to a solid tumor, or where the disease descends from one generation to another. Moses, in the 13th chapter of Leviticus, lays down very explicit rules for distinguishing between those spots which are proofs of the actual existence of Leprosy, and those spots which arise from other impurities of the blood, so terrible a loathsome thing had it been considered then, that a person known to be infected with it would not be allowed to mix with society. The Jews regarded it as a divine infliction, and believed there was no cure for it. It was then the sins of youth or a deviation from the paths of virtue were punished as long as life lasted. Happily in our day, the science of medicine has been developed, the great storehouse of Nature furnishes a remedy, the disease is stripped of its terrors by the use of the SAMARITAN'S ROOT AND HERB JUICES, and the victim of Scrofula, Ulcers, Sores, Pimples, Blotches, Tetter, &c., can be restored to sound health in a few weeks. That there are thousands now whose conditions are as bad as were those of the dark ages we are well aware. Many now fail to find a cure as ages we are well aware. To all such the Samaritan's Root and Herb Juices will prove a happy boon, eradicating all the impurities from the blood, and making the complexion as clear and healthy. A few bottles will remove pimples or blotches, thereby driving away with cosmetics and poisons. ROOT AND HERB JUICES, $1 25 per bottle. Sent by Express to any address.
